Isabelle's Legacy

Isabelle Ellis was born with a congenital heart defect and lost her battle at the age of three while waiting for a life-saving heart transplant. Her parents, Chris and Amanda, have partnered with Gift of Life to continue to build awareness of the critical need for organ and tissue donation. They have also established HOPE, the Heart of a Princess Eternally charity to provide nursing scholarships and care packages for other young families confronted with extended pediatric hospital stays.

Gift of Life, a local nonprofit, delivers the Life Savers program to seventy area high schools empowering teens to share their decision about organ and tissue donation with loved ones. The Life Mentors program is also provided by Gift of Life to families still waiting for a life-saving transplant, new transplant recipients and living donors.

Learn more about organ and tissue donation at giftdonor.org or heartofaprincess.net
